

The Inkling

New Elders Elected, Ordination and Installation Set for January 9, 2011

At a special meeting of the Congregation on Sunday, December 5th, the following people were elected to serve as Elders on the Session of First Presbyterian Church.

The Ordination and Installation of these newly elected Elders will take place during the morning worship service on Sunday, January 9, 2011.

Art Hunt returns

Art works in IT at Yale. On his first term as an Elder, Art was involved in a wide range of projects, including restructuring the Finance Committee and putting all financial affairs onto a computer program, chairing the Property Committee through a time of significant building renovations, and helping significantly with Stewardship.

Nancy Rupp returns

Nancy lives in Trumbull, and has been the visionary chair of the Mission Committee for the last three years, leading us in projects ranging from advocacy and letters to office holders and on behalf of Bread for the World, to strong social action work close to home including our leading role in the Abraham's Tent program. Nancy returns to fill a one-year vacancy.

Julie Ray has been a part of First Presbyterian Church for nearly ten years. Julie is a research associate in epidemiology and public health at the Yale School of Medicine, working with Microbial Diseases. She is the mom of two small boys, and married to Justin Ray, recently ordained at FPC as a Minister of Word and Sacrament in the Presbyterian Church.

Gary Cline, an Associate Professor at the Yale School of Medicine, works in endocrinology. Gary last served on the Session at FPC nearly ten years ago, and during a time of terrific and rapid growth in our congregation he was the Clerk of Session.

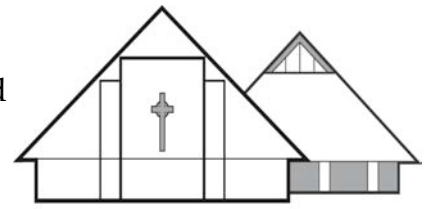

Martha Smith's professional life is in the coastal and watershed systems; Martha has been a leader in sustainability education at First Presbyterian Church for many years. She last served on the FPC session six years ago; at that time, she chaired our Mission Committee.

Christy Purnell is an elementary public school teacher in East Haven. A wonderful musician, Christy has often directed our choir and accompanied us on piano when Pat McCreless has been away. She is the mother of 8 year-old Sam and 3 year-old Rebecca, and is married to Blake Purnell.

Thanks to outgoing Elders Andrew McCloskey, Beth Aura Miller, and Jim Whitney as they end their term of service this month. Well done, good and faithful servants!

125th Anniversary Celebration

The 125th Anniversary Celebration kicks off this month with a talk and tour of the buildings led by Jim Owens, who with John Dinkeloo designed the sanctuary building in 1967. Jim was instrumental in the creation of the Owens Community Building, five years ago. Jim will lead a tour on Sunday, January 23rd after the Friendship Hour.

On February 6th, Bruce Gordon, Professor of Church History at Yale, will present a history of Presbyterians in New England during the past 125 years. And, do mark your calendars for a day of celebration on Sunday, February 20th. It will be a special day of worship, music, historical notes and a proclamation to accompany a meal shared. Praise God from whom all blessings flow.

Abraham's Tent

First Presbyterian Church will once again host twelve homeless men in our church building during the week of January 17th until January 24th. Beginning on Monday evening over dinner, members and friends of the congregation will welcome our guests. Each night we will offer dinner, a warm place to sleep, a cooked breakfast, and a bag lunch.

Last year's program was a great opportunity for many volunteers from the church to talk with and extend hospitality to some of the least of our brothers. Church member Micah Luce is again coordinating our efforts.

A sign up board can be found in the Copeland Room. Volunteers are needed to cook, sit and talk with our guests, stay overnight, prepare breakfast, and put together sack lunches each of the days. If you would like to participate in this New Haven Wide effort to ease the crowds at the Columbus House overflow shelter, please talk with Micah, or Co-Pastors Bill Goettler and Maria LaSala, or sign up on the Abraham's Tent board.

Adult Education in January

Christian Education classes for all resume on Sunday, January 9. Join us at 9:30 a.m. each Sunday morning.

On January 9, Weijia Wang and Qingxin, visiting scholars at OMSC, will share stories about the church in China.

On January 16, Anna Balakrishnan and Andrew McCloskey will share stories and pictures from their summer mission trip to the Dominican Republic. Working with GROUP from the First Congregational Church of Madison, Anna and Andrew met new friends, and had a transforming experience in a new culture. With support from the Mission Committee, Anna and Andrew were able to work with other mission groups to continue the building of a new school.

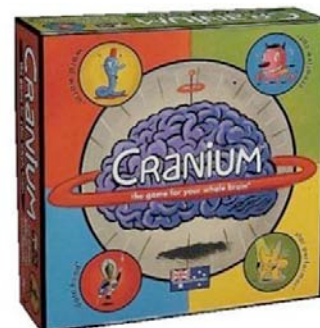

On January 23, George Rupp will talk with us about the work of the IRC, the International Rescue Committee, a leading organization working on behalf of refugees around the world. George is the President of the IRC, and has seen first hand both the struggles of refugee living, and the joy when families return to their homes.

On January 30, Ned Castner will lead a conversation about the work that he does to support the lives of Palestinians. Ned has traveled extensively to Palestine and sees a side often ignored by the American media.

All sessions take place in the Miller Gathering Hall. Coffee and tea will be on.

Middle School and Senior High Event

Middle School and Senior High Youth Groups are invited to an afternoon of healthy competition involving games (Apples-to-Apples! Cranium! Bible trivial pursuit!!) and baking (cupcakes! cookies!) following the potluck on January 9th. We will plan to be together at the church until 3:00. Also, please save the date: on Sunday, February 6th the youth groups will head out to the Ralph Walker rink for the third-annual skating outing. See Nancy McLaren if you have questions.

Eve's Daughters: An Interfaith Approach to Bible Study through Women's Eyes

Eve's Daughters, the women's interfaith Bible Study, will take place on Monday, January 24, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church. Women from Congregation Mishkan Israel and First Presbyterian Church will gather for supper and a conversation on "Hannah* and the Meaning of Prayer for Jewish and Christian Women." Sign up at the Welcome Table or RSVP to firstpresbyterianchurch@gmail.com. Any further questions, please speak with Co-Pastor Maria LaSala.

*Hannah, prays there silently and desperately for a child. The High Priest Eli scolds her, mistaking her voiceless prayer for the ravings of a drunk. "No my lord," she replies. "I am a tormented woman. I have drunk no wine or other strong drink, but I have been pouring out my heart to God." Reproved, Eli blesses her. God answers Hannah's prayer and she becomes the mother of the prophet Samuel (Samuel 1, Chapter 1).

Eve's Daughters is supported by a grant from The Women of Vision Society of The Jewish Foundation of Greater New Haven.

Calvin's Brothers – January 27

Calvin's Brothers, a theological discussion group for the men of the church, will take place on Thursday, January 27, beginning at 6 p.m. Sign up at the Welcome Table or RSVP to firstpresbyterianchurch@gmail.com. Any further questions, please speak with YDS Intern Bryce Wiebe.

Book Group Forming!

Do you love to engage in thoughtful, respectful conversation with friends about good, stimulating writing?

If so, consider joining the new First Presbyterian covenant book group. It will meet for the first time in February and will continue for four monthly meetings. In a covenant book group everyone agrees to read the selections and attend each meeting if at all possible. There is commitment involved.

This book group will form around the broad themes of finding grace, and living with reverence and vigor in the local and world community. Readings will include scripture, journalism, work by poets Mark Doty and Billy Collins, as well as fiction by Adam Schuitema and possibly memoir. The group will select later readings together.

Sign up at the Welcome Table or speak with Dick Hasbany, convener.

Homework@First

Homework@First will recommence starting Tuesday, January 11. After a great year in 2010, Homework@First is beginning its second year of serving neighborhood children in need of homework and reading support. We have also greatly enjoyed the process of connecting to neighborhood families and the Worthington Hooker School community. This winter, Homework@First continues to seek interested volunteers and welcomes donations of books and school supplies appropriate for ages 8-13. Thank you for your support of this wonderful outreach initiative.

New Members Welcomed In December

The First Presbyterian Church welcomed six new members on Sunday, December 5th.

Karina Woltke is a familiar face among us. Karina teaches science in the New Haven Public Schools. She attends worship with her sons, Jordan, Nathanael, and Jonah. Karina currently sits on the Worship Committee.

Hannah Roh is also a familiar face to many here. Hannah is a second year Master of Divinity student at Yale Divinity School, headed perhaps into a life of theological scholarship, perhaps into a life of ministry. She is also our Church Administrator.

Ashleigh Elser is a second year M.A.R. student at Yale, too. She is Hannah's roommate and together have been worshipping with us since the fall. Ashleigh has come to New Haven via Folsom, California, St. Olaf College in Minnesota, and time spent in Guatemala.

Jane Splawn comes to us from the Episcopal Church. Jane is a professor at Albertus Magnus and Southern Connecticut State University where she teaches in the English Departments. She holds an M.Div. from Yale Divinity School.

Sharon Anderson is also a second year M.Div. student at Yale. She is currently serving an internship with Columbus House, where she is a lead organizer for the Abraham's Tent program in which dozens of religious congregations house homeless people during the winter months. Sharon grew up in the Episcopal Church.

Margaret Fox is a first year law student at Yale, having lived in New Haven during her undergraduate years at Yale. Margaret also has a degree from Harvard Divinity School. First Presbyterian will be Margaret's first church of membership.

Welcome to our new members. We will all look forward to getting to know one another!

Session "Advance"

The Session of First Presbyterian Church of New Haven met on Saturday, January 8th for a time of conversation and community building. Please keep the Session in your prayers as they begin a new year of working together for the well being of the church.

2011 PLEDGES still being received

We continue to celebrate the generous outcome of our Stewardship campaign. We have received $269,211 in pledges. The final total, if the remaining pledges we expect to receive come in, could be as high as $275,000. The congregation responded to our pledge campaign with exceptional generosity. These pledges will ensure that we can balance our budget for 2011. With the careful cuts that we have made to the budget, we will be able to continue the high quality of our programs and our contributions to services in New Haven and around the world. If you haven't yet pledged and would like to do so, please fill out a pledge card (which can be found on the Welcome Table) or speak with Stewardship Chair, Jim Whitney. Thanks to all those who have already pledged to the 2011 operating budget.

"Winter Warm-up" Potluck and "Baby Book Shower" – January 9

This month's potluck will take place following worship on Sunday, January 9. A book bag filled with books will be given to Violet Marie Staley-Goss during the lunch. The theme of this potluck is a Winter Warm-up, so please plan to bring something hearty and hot – a family sized main dish, side dish, or dessert – to share.

"Feasting on the Word: A Dinner of Biblical Foods"

Plans are being made for a sit down dinner program of foods from the Middle East. The evening will welcome chefs from the congregation who will prepare appetizers, main dishes, and desserts which appear in the biblical story. Imagine a table spread with hummus and carrot salad, figs and olives, pita bread, eggplant and honey sweetened desserts.

This will not be a potluck dinner and reservations will be required. Tickets will soon be available for purchase. If you would like to be on the planning team or offer your services as a chef, please speak with Maria LaSala, Bill Goettler or YDS Intern Bryce Wiebe.

Christmas Greetings from PCUSA Mission Co-Workers

Karla Koll currently serves in Guatemala. Here is an excerpt from her Christmas 2010 letter:

CEDEPCA seeks to prepare women and men to follow Christ in working to overcome violence together with people from other churches and traditions. Some of our students are pastors who have studied as much as they can in the Bible institutes or seminaries of their respective denominations. They come to CEDEPCA looking for broader theological perspectives and they discover a God who, in the words of one student, "is free of religious traditions and ecclesiastical stigmas." Others are professionals with degrees in other areas who are seeking to deepen their knowledge of the Bible and their walk of faith. Some are young people just starting out in ministry. All are excited about the opportunity to learn more.

The testimonies of students and former students point to the continuing need for the kind of alternative theological education that CEDEPCA and the UBL offer. We are stepping out in faith, not at all sure where the resources will come from, as neither our students nor their churches can pay more than modest fees. The demand far exceeds our ability to respond. Not a week goes by without a church or community organization contacting me to ask if CEDEPCA can help train their leadership. We are making plans to offer university-level courses on Saturdays in Guatemala City as well as a certificate program in Christian education. We hope to provide more people with the opportunity to discover a different God, a God who loves the world and who calls women and men to serve the cause of justice and peace.

This is what Christmas is all about, an encounter with a different God. The One who arrives as the Babe of Bethlehem comes to save, not to condemn. This God doesn't make people poor but chooses to be born among those who were poor. This God comes not with the power of a conqueror but in the vulnerability of a child.

To read the entire letter, go to:

<http://gamc.pcusa.org/ministries/missionconnections/koll-karla-ann-2010-christmas/>

And Mary Nebelsick, with her husband Paul Matheny and daughter Rachel Marie serve as Mission Co-Workers in the Philippines:

The Christmas season in the Philippines is usually a time of plenty when the farmers gather the heavy sheaves of rice, shuck them and lay the grains of rice in golden patches along the busy roads. In the north, where agriculture still forms the basis of the economy, cars swerve precariously around swaths of golden grain as they hasten from one town to another.

The joy that comes from the hope of a plentiful harvest is contagious, even in the congested concrete jungle that is Manila. A few weeks ago, I was part of the outreach program of Philippine Christian University where I spend joyous hours as a professor and chaplain. Every week I minister to the students of PCU on both of its campuses. These campuses could not be more different. The Dasmariñas campus lies under the spreading branches of mango trees while the Manila campus that sits squarely on congested, noisy Taft Avenue. It was at the PCU campus in Manila, amidst the drizzle and noise, that the PCU students hosted a Christmas party for the children from a neighboring slum-area.

Even at Christmas time, Jesus is not just a darling baby born in a manger for these slum children. They take the longer view. They know that they are Jesus' own children. Jesus is the Papa who they can turn to in all their distress. Jesus is the Papa who loves them in all their sadness and distress. Papa Jesus is the one who provides them with the joy of the season in the form of the sacred story. Papa Jesus is the one who has unlocked the hearts of those caring Christians in countries near and far who have provided them with sacred songs for their souls, satisfying food for their stomachs and blessed assurance that somewhere there are Christians who care about them.

We thank you for your prayers, your support and for being a part of our lives. Merry Christmas, Happy New Year and may we all continue to search for the Christ Child and the hope he brings!

Join us at the Yale Repertory Theatre!

Join us for a performance of August Wilson's The Piano Lesson, at Yale Repertory Theatre on Monday, January 31 at 8 p.m. Tickets are $10 each. Please sign up and pay for your ticket no later than Sunday, January 16th. A sign up sheet and envelope for your check (made payable to First Presbyterian Church) or cash will be found on the Welcome Table. It is important that you pay for your ticket at the time of signing up. Thank you!

Winner of the Pulitzer Prize in Drama, August Wilson's The Piano Lesson returns to Yale Rep, where it had its world premiere in 1987.

Pittsburgh, 1936. An ornately carved upright piano sits in the home of Berniece Charles, who plans to pass it along to her daughter. But her brother, Boy Willie, has another plan for the prized, hard-won heirloom: to sell it for the hard cash to buy the same Mississippi land that their family once worked as slaves. The Piano Lesson is the intimate story of a brother and sister and their struggle to embrace or deny their epic inheritance.

The Piano Lesson was one of six plays in August Wilson's 10-play cycle chronicling the African American experience in the 20th century to premiere at Yale Rep. Director Liesl Tommy made her Yale Rep debut with the critically-acclaimed production of Eclipsed in 2009.
